Bio: I was born and raised in Great Bend, Kan., and graduated from Kansas State University in 2003. After graduation, I began my professional career as an estimator/construction engineer for Kiewit in Little Rock, Ark. In 2005, I moved back to Kansas and started at BG Consultants, Inc., where I have worked my way from design engineer to Stockholder in 2012, Board of Directors member in 2017, Corporate Treasurer in 2018, and finally have settled in as the Manhattan office manager earlier this year. My engineering specialty has been water/wastewater projects.

Living and working here in Manhattan, Kan., provides me the opportunity to raise my family in a wonderful community. I've been married to my wife, Christie, for 14 years and we have three children; daughter Raegan, 11, and twin boys Jack and Justin, 7. We love everything that Manhattan has to offer: size, location, culture, and of course, K-State football. Hobbies of mine include hunting, boating, and spending time on ATVs.

Fun fact about me: I can pick up a tennis ball with my toes.
