Brent leads the landscape architecture practice at Ruggles & Bohm in Wichita. Always looking for ways to better the communities in which he works, Brent enjoys bridging the technical realm of the engineers he works with and the physical realm that affects how users interact with and see a project- a happy marriage of art and science. With past projects in Kansas, Colorado and Texas, his experience includes education, retail, office, and medical facilities; land planning; streetscapes; highway and transit; park and recreation facilities; wayfinding and graphic design. He also assists with marketing and business development activities for the company. He received his Bachelor of Landscape Architecture from Kansas State University in 1998 and became a registered professional Landscape Architect in the state of Kansas in 2002.

Brent has been married for over 16 years and has two sons in high school (competing high schools, no less!). Outside of the office, Brent's hobbies revolve around his family: summer trips, watching the boys compete in sports, lazy weekend afternoons listening to music on the patio with his wife and a frosty beverage, and all things K-State. Brent currently serves as president of the Wichita Chapter of the Society for Marketing Professional Services (SMPS), is president of the Wichita Parks Foundation Board of Directors and is a member of the CLARB national licensing exam writing committee. Originally from Greeley, Colorado, he is finally over the Broncos losing yet another Super Bowl.
