I grew up just outside of Topeka and graduated from St. Marys High School. I then attended Washburn University on a baseball scholarship and studied Secondary Education. After two years at Washburn I transferred to Kansas State University where I graduated with a degree in Civil Engineering – Construction Option in 2007. I started working with HWS Consulting Group (now Benesch) in Manhattan as a summer intern prior to my final year at K-State, and I continued working part-time during the school year until I began my full-time employment in May of '07. I am currently the Field Services Group Manager for the Benesch Manhattan Office, where I am responsible for overseeing our surveying, materials testing, and construction administration responsibilities. During my time with Benesch I have assisted in projects from Kansas City to Liberal and everywhere in between. The best parts about my job are getting the opportunity to meet new people from across the state and spending time out of the office visiting project sites.

My wife Shannon and I met while we were in high school and have been married for five years. We currently live in St. Marys, KS with our son Parker (3). We enjoy traveling and spending time with our family and friends. As avid Wildcat fans we attend most K-State home games during the football and basketball seasons, as well as a couple of road games each year. My free time is often spent hunting, fishing, golfing, or simply enjoying the outdoors.
